

MADELINE BANIC

Maddy Banic is a 23 year old professional swimmer who specializes in sprint fly and free. Maddy started YMCA level swimming when she was 9, but did not start taking swimming seriously until her junior year of high school. Maddy was recruited to the University of Tennessee where she got her degree in Kinesiology. During her time at Tennessee, she became a 9x-SEC Champion and NCAA Champion her senior year. Her first professional year out of college was with the LA Current ISL team for the end of season meets. In the 2020 season, she had a breakout ISL season with Energy Standard.

Maddy had a rocky road throughout high school and the beginning of college. She was officially diagnosed with depression and anxiety the summer of 2016, and ended up leaving UT and the sport to get professional help after a near suicide attempt in 2017. She came back from treatment with a new passion for life and swimming. Returning to swimming was a challenge in itself, but she was relentless and came back stronger than ever to become a captain her senior year. After her last NAAs, she left the sport, ready to move on to her next chapter, but after 3 months of normal life, she felt called back to the water. She had so much more to give to the sport. She returned to pool with the fire ignited once again, and is now training full time in Knoxville, TN.
